

CONGREGATION BETH AMI - OUR PRIVACY PRINCIPLES

We are committed to protecting personal data from being misused, getting into the wrong hands as a result of poor security, or being shared carelessly or inaccurately, as we are aware people can be upset or harmed if any of these occurrences were to happen.

WE DO NOT;

- Sell membership information.
- Allow those doing business on our behalf to use our membership information for their own marketing purpose.

WE DO:

- Contractually require any person or organization providing products or services on our behalf to protect our membership information.
- Use membership information to process dues payments, donations, our newsletter, event fees and reservations.
- Share membership names and phone numbers with your consent to complete transaction that you requested.
- Maintain physical, electronic and procedural safeguards to protect membership information to comply with federal and state laws.
- Retain membership information for legal, auditing and regulatory purposes.
- Provide members access only to members name, email address and phone number through our membership Shulcloud portal. Only members can control their profile and payment method beyond their name, email address and phone number.
- Provide member address when there is a disaster or family emergency to staff and authorized agencies.
- Provide limited information for delivery of gifts from the Congregation.
- Provide limited information to those needing assistance, with their consent, to authorized persons.
- Handle information about former or prospectives members in the same way as existing members.